Reasons for the Product Deployment

The previous network experienced slowdowns and inconsistent connectivity. The phone system was outdated, leading to communication challenges. Added to this were security concerns, lack of centralized management, and rising costs due to ongoing issues. To address these, we integrated the Unifi network and introduced a 3CX phone system.

How Has It Improved What They Had Before

The Unifi network provides a stable connection. The 3CX phone system, combined with the Unifi network, has updated phone communications. Calls are clear, and the system offers call management. The infrastructure is now scalable. Security features protect against threats, and a unified dashboard aids in network management.

What Do You Like About the Product or Service

The Unifi network offers a stable connection. The 3CX phone system complements it by addressing voice communication needs. The interface is intuitive, and security measures are in place. The system provides flexibility for company growth.

Business Problems Solved & Benefits Realized

Before the upgrade, there were connectivity issues and phone system inefficiencies. The Unifi network now supports operations, and the 3CX phone system improves communication. Data protection is enhanced, and centralized management simplifies oversight.

Conclusion

The addition of the Unifi network and the 3CX phone system has improved the company's technology infrastructure, focusing on efficiency, security, and scalability.
